Governor McCray is Guilty of Using the Mails to Defraud

(Associated Press)
INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., April 28.—Warren T. McCray, governor of Indiana, was tonight found guilty in the federal court on a charge of having used the mails in a scheme to defraud.

Judge Anderson directed that McCray be arrested and confined in the Marion county jail, and the governor was incarcerated shortly after 9 o'clock.

His attorneys had a brief consultation just before the arrest was made.

Upon being asked if there would be an appeal, one of the attorneys said he could not answer that question definitely; but that his individual opinion was that there would be none.

Tom Love Says That Neff Has A Lot of Explaining to Do

(Associated Press)
DALLAS, April 28.—"Pat Neff has a lot of things to explain in his record as governor of Texas; and I am sorry that he is not here tonight to do so," said Tom Love, National executive committeeman for Texas and strong advocate of a delegation instructed for McCray for president.

Love had invited the governor to share time with him; but Neff had declined the invitation.

"Neff has charged that McCaddo has too many things to explain to be available," continued Love.

"Why Neff has had a lot of explaining to do, in his campaign for governor he had to explain why he had made such an error in his age; and why, while he was county attorney of McLennan county, gambling houses ran and were merely expected to pay small fines."

Name of President Coolidge Dragged Into the Hearing On Muscle Shoals

(Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, April 28.—President Coolidge was quoted in a telegram produced today at the senate Muscle Shoals hearing as having stated that he was "trying to deliver" Muscle Shoals to Henry Ford.

This telegram read: "In private interview with president this morning he said: 'I am friendly to Mr. Ford but with someone will deliver Muscle Shoals to him; which I am trying to do.'"

The telegram was sent by James Martin Miller to the Dearborn Independent, Ford's newspaper, on October 12, 1923. In offering the telegram Chairman Norris said the White House records showed that Miller had an interview with the president that day.

The telegram was addressed to "William J. Cameron or Ernest G. Liebhold," in care of the Independent. The message was one of those subpoenaed by the committee Saturday.

Committee Decides On Public Hearing of the Mayfield Case

(Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, April 28.—Public investigation of the Texas senatorial election of November, 1922, will be started May 8 by the senate elections subcommittee under a decision reached today after preliminary arguments had been made by counsel for Senator Mayfield, democrat, Texas, and George E. B. Paddy, the contestant.

Counsel for Paddy had asked that the hearings be opened next Monday, but the committee decided that witnesses could not be brought here by that time.

In deciding to conduct public hearings, the committee rejected a proposal of W. F. Zumburn of Kansas City, counsel for Mayfield, that the case be decided on the law with respect to the ballots which Paddy contends were illegal.

Preliminary arguments in the contest of George E. B. Paddy for the seat held by Senator Mayfield, were heard today by the senate elections subcommittee.

W. F. Zumburn of Kansas City, counsel for Mayfield, expressed willingness to submit the case on the question of the legality of the contested ballots.

Mr. Zumburn, of Dallas, counsel for Paddy, said the position of the contestant was that the contested ballots would have to be counted out under the election laws of Texas.

He added that the main defects were the stamping, typewriting and the writing of Mayfield's name on the ballots by persons other than the voters.

Mr. Nickels also contended that if illegal and excessive expenditures in the primary contest in Texas were established, Mayfield could not be entitled to his seat as his name could not legally have been placed on the ballot in the general election.

Attempt to Murder Wife with Germs Alleged Against Baring

(Associated Press)
WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., April 28.—Pneumonia and aliphtheria germs are believed by a physician to have been administered to Mrs. Henry Baring, whose husband, an inventor and dabbler in chemistry, is held on charge of poisoning her.

Mrs. Baring is wealthy and 46 years old, seven years older than Baring, who is her second husband. She was divorced from her first husband.

When Baring was arraigned on Saturday he pleaded guilty to a plea which was later changed to not guilty. His counsel said this was due to "irreversibility."

"My client is absolutely innocent," counsel stated. "He has a strong case on its merits and feels confident of ultimate vindication."

District attorney Bowland said that signs of pneumonia and aliphtheria germs had been found in the blood of Mrs. Baring various times during the last three months by Dr. Henry Baring, her physician during the last three years. These were given her, the physician believed in ginger ale, root beer and solid foods. When Baring was arraigned, however, the allegation was that he put arsenic in her food.

Despite reports that she was ill Mrs. Baring conferred at length with the prosecutor yesterday. Another person examined was Mrs. Walter Strand of Baltimore, the mother of Baring, who paid a brief visit to her daughter-in-law and then took up residence at a hotel. The official also talked with Mrs. Baring's brother, Arthur Griffith, at Providence, R. I., over the telephone.

Baring's friends advanced the theory that wrought by chemical experiments he temporarily lost his mental stability.

DIFFERENCES ARISE ON REPARATIONS REPORT

PARIS, April 28.—Divergencies in the French and Belgian views on the method of proceeding in applying the report of the reparations experts are reported to have been developed in a conference held here today.

President Tries to Save Situation

(Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, April 28.—The move for a compromise between the executive and legislative branches of the government on the question of Japanese exclusion provided for in the immigration bill proposed by house and senate was carried forward at a conference today between President Coolidge and Chairman Johnson of the house immigration committee.

The conference, held at the request of the president, preceded another meeting of the senate and house conferees on the immigration bill and was a follow-up of the president's talk Saturday with Senator Reed of Pennsylvania, who had charge of the bill in the senate.

The impression prevailed after the meeting today that Mr. Coolidge, consulting with Secretary Hughes, had advanced a proposal which he believed would satisfy the advocates of exclusion and avoid any affront to Japan.

FEDERAL RESERVE BOARD CAUSED STOCK BREAK
(Associated Press)
NEW YORK, April 28.—Official confirmation of a slackening in business activity which was contained in the March statement of the Federal Reserve bank provided the basis for a sharp reaction in today's stock market, which was particularly effective in the steel, motor, oil, sugar and textile shares.

Reports of price concessions by steel manufacturers was another contributing factor to the selling movement. Sales approximated 650,000 shares.

MISS MARY ROSS WAS DEAD BY STRANGULATION
WACO, Texas, April 28.—Miss Mary Ross, 56, niece of the late cowboy hero, General "Sam" Ross, was found dead by hanging in her residence here today. Her mother, widow of the late Capt. Robert S. Ross, was found unconscious, having been struck in the head by a hammer, but is expected to recover.

MISS ROSS suffered a nervous breakdown about a year ago, had recovered and with her mother had recently been visiting in Kansas City.

THE WEATHER
Oklahoma: Tuesday, unsettled; probably thunder showers. Wednesday, partly cloudy in southwest portion; cooler.

SALESWOMEN AND WORKING GIRLS FIND G. F. P. A BLESSING

Forced To Constantly Be On Their Feet, Usually Means
Indescribable Misery.

Girls and women, too, who have to work for their living, and sometimes when they are tired and their periods are a burden, especially if they are among the victims of the dreaded malady—catarrh of the generative organs—which has now been proven to be the cause of nine out of ten cases of so-called "female troubles." At this time when they should get all the rest possible, they have to stay on their feet. Only a miracle keeps them from being disabled.

Those headaches, backaches, pains in the sides, cramps, spells of dizziness, and that awful tired-out, dual-care feeling are nature's notices that you are "overdrawn" and that something must be done to replenish your supply of nerve-force, energy and strength or you cannot continue to go on.

For a quick and easy relief from distressing pains and sickness, for a sure return of glowing health and happiness, for a joyous revival of buoyancy and energy and for a new realization of vigor in meeting each and every day's work, go to your drugstore, secure a bottle of St. Joseph's G. F. P., use it conscientiously and see for yourself that the exquisite relief of the thousands of women who are using it are fully merited by this marvelous medicine which does so much to relieve sickness and pain among women and restore them to lasting health and happiness.

THE ADMINISTRATION OF MAYOR DEWESEE

The administration of J. W. Dewese as mayor has come to a close and we are able to pass upon it as to accomplishment.

It has been an eventful two years for the city of Paris. The foremost features are, of course, the completion of the water system begun under the Crook administration; and the building of new schools. Both of these accomplishments are well worthy commendation for the manner in which they have been executed; and Paris today has a water system which is without a superior in Texas when the demands to be made upon it are considered—a system which should be the nucleus for a great growth in the population of Paris as a result of new small industries.

The new schools were an absolute necessity; and already have they drawn to Paris several families. They relieve the pressure for the ward schools—they increase and intensify the demand for the junior high and the junior college.

In his final message Mayor Dewese directs attention to the fact that the permanent indebtedness has been reduced by $50,000; and that without a corresponding increase in the current indebtedness. This is a financial accomplishment which is rare and is a most excellent record.

The budget system has worked most satisfactorily in Paris as it has elsewhere adopted; and Mr. Dewese goes to some length into the merits of it. He cites that it enables the mayor to co-operate with the head of every department—and also to keep closely in touch with the financial affairs of the departments and of the city as a whole, making for economy and efficiency.

The city's property has been placed in first class condition, well repaired and painted; and the abattoir enlarged and more fully equipped; Wade park cleaned and improved and a new tractor bought—all these things have been paid for as accomplished.

The fire department is well equipped with all apparatus in first class condition, an ample supply of hose on hand and the personnel is in good spirits and filled with a desire to perform full duty.

Mayor Dewese emphasizes that during the two years there has been harmony and co-operation among the members of the administration; that there has been a full effort at the accomplishment of the best results for the city, and he is appreciative of the efforts of all his fellow workers for the loyalty that has been accorded and the real effort which has been made to achieve results for the lasting good of Paris.

Attention is also directed to the complete co-operation which has existed between the city administration and the school board. The good of Paris is the ultimate aim of each; and by co-operation this has been materially served.

A careful review of the Dewese administration shows that it has been a successful one and that Paris has advanced during these two years and has been put in such condition that the new administration will have a clear road for further accomplishment and for carrying forward the several and many things which are included within the activities of the city council and the city's officials.

PEOPLE DON'T ADMIRE ROUGH, PIMPLY SKIN

Before you can impress some one of the opposite sex enough to get them to share the happy state of love with you, you certainly must keep your appearance pleasing and attractive. Pimples, blotchy, eczemic skin seems ten times worse to strangers and new acquaintances. And even husbands, wives, parents and kin feel sorry for loved ones who suffer from such skin diseases.

The way to get rid of all these drawbacks to affection and devotion from dear ones is to use Black and White Ointment and Soap, like thousands of people are doing. They are economically priced, in liberal packages. The 50c size Black and White Ointment contains three times as much as the 25c size. All dealers have both the Ointment and Soap.

MODISH MITZI

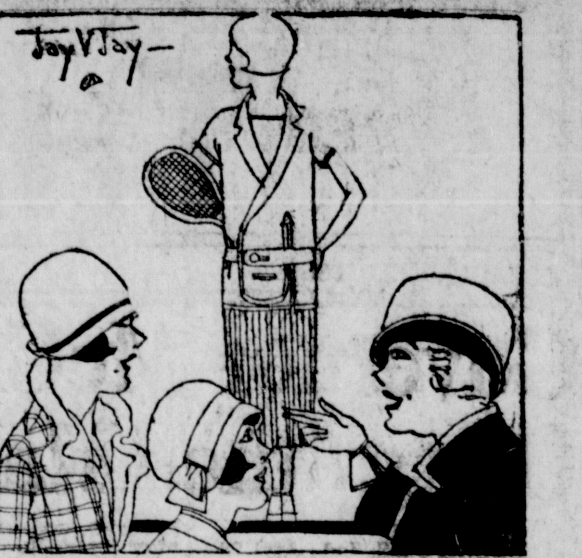

"I trust you, Mitzi, to take Betty sightseeing. I think it will be an education in itself," says Aunt Sofia, helpfully planning a morning for her youngest niece who comes a-visit. Betty, with the great wisdom of her fourteen years, is admiring Mitzi's plaid flannel dress in boyish style.

A sign "TOURS" on the rubberneck bus. It will, no doubt, pass all points of historic interest. But that is not Mitzi's idea of spending an enlightening morning. Neither is it Betty's. Notice Mitzi's coat with its braided revers. Betty's suit is a box model.

They are seeing the sights. Not exactly the ones Aunt Sofia meant, to be sure; but just as important. They are now reviewing the vestee styles for sports wear. The one on the display form is tailored and has a fitted waistline. Both are of flannel.

Caught! Who would have thought Aunt Sofia would give up a busy morning to go window shopping. "Sightseeing?" laughs Aunt Sofia. "No, style seeing," answers the little flapper, entirely equal to the occasion. Aunt Sofia is going to buy the sports dress in the window for her, of course.

Retiring Mayor Re-views Two Years of His Administration

place public property in the fire district, given us by the State, was used to replace the blocks on East Houston and North Church streets. These blocks had been so burned that the streets were barely passable. This work, in our opinion, was very timely. We also widened a badly congested portion of Clarksville street and this work is paid for.

Extensive repairs have been made in our fire fighting machinery and it is all in first class condition. I shall not mention the achievements of any department for space forbids that. I give credit to each and every one for the good record made by all and each of them deserves special mention, but the unusual record of the fire department cannot be overlooked. I simply call your attention to it. We believe it the most visible results of the effect of efficient organization, which predominates each and every department as well but which cannot so easily be pointed out.

All departments have been faithful. We have kept in close touch with each and every activity, remedying the wrong when it was discovered, stopping the leaks before there was waste, and keeping all workmen on the job and doing it. The chief credit, of course, is due to be given to the heads of these departments. The aim of your mayor has been to keep in close touch with them and all workmen, sponsoring the organization, but leaving the responsibility with the heads of the departments. The results show the wisdom of the policy. The show-up of the reduced tax rate, and cash in the treasury we produce is the irrefutable argument for the methods we have used in the administration of your affairs.

This is the above and the bodies our most successful efforts, yet we know that in the accomplishment of the more noticeable results are more visible and will be more readily appreciated. In the construction of the Paris water supply—a big project indeed—we did not have a hitch from beginning to end. Without the compromise of one dollar and without a legal controversy, the work was completed in schedule time and at a cost little in excess of $399,000; whereas the engineer's estimate in the beginning ran to $1,000,000.

No faulty work may be found to mar the pleasure we have had in the task and no act in connection with the work of the part of one will so far as I know and believe, reflect anything but the most scrupulous and conscientious conduct.

On the other hand, our praise has been heard and commendation given for the integrity and efficiency of every one. This was my great desire and my supreme effort, to point to it with pride.

Again we were charged with the task of building some new school houses for the ward schools. Bonds had been voted to build three new buildings, but we have only three, all modern and fully equipped. You also have in your treasury $11,000 of the money, which may be used by our trustees on other buildings. We understand, too, that this surplus may avert the necessity of a new issue of school bonds for the present year.

In this connection let us remind you that we found your school fund greatly overdrawn and your teachers two months behind with their salaries. The council gave more money than had ever been appropriated to the schools but the deficit could not be met.

We made a careful survey of the situation and found that the schools faced ruin unless a change was made. The council joined with the school board in asking the legislature to pass a bill completely divorcing the schools from the city government, placing the management and control in the hands of a board of trustees elected by the people of the entire district disregarding city limits. This is a matter of principle, this is common justice to every one. From a standpoint of expediency our action has already been fully vindicated.

Our school system is rapidly recovering from its plight and we may reasonably expect progress to be made in the very near future if present plans mature as rapidly as we believe they will, of which you have long dreamed.

Regardless of the financial showing, the biggest thing, that which is most far reaching and

U. C. V. MEMORIAL SERVICE SUNDAY

Veterans, Daughters and Visitors in Attendance at First Christian Church

The most beautiful and touching of all occasions to those who knew the Confederacy as a vital living cause, is Memorial Day, when the graves of the noble dead are strewn with flowers and are marked with the Southern flag. On Sunday afternoon, the members of Albert Sidney Johnston camp No. 20, and representatives from other camps in the county, gathered with the Daughters and Children of the Confederacy at the First Christian church, for the annual tribute to the comrades who have passed away.

The platform was decked with flowers, and crossed behind the pulpit were the two banners of the Confederacy, the Stars and Bars and the Southern Cross.

The principal speaker of the afternoon was Rev. H. E. Morris, the pastor of the Immanuel Baptist church, assisted by Mayor J. W. Dewese, and the officers of Lamar Chapter, U. D. C. Mrs. J. W. Dewese, J. T. Dickson, K. B. Burgess, and C. M. Rogers, and Miss Florence Rose, occupied places of honor.

Miss Golden Barr, assistant director of the Children of the Confederacy, played the accompaniment for the entrance of the chapter, the opening hymn, "How Firm a Foundation," and later for "America," sung by the children.

Mrs. Burgess called the roll of the dead for the past year for both Albert Sidney Johnston Camp and Lamar chapter, and Mrs. Clevie Burgess gave a touching reading of the "Crossing the Bar," naming this as a memorial to Mrs. Charles Shaffer.

Mrs. Scrivener made a beautiful talk in which she told of the origin of the Southern Memorial day, when, following the childish example of the two little girls who on April 14, 1862, strewed a soldier's unknown lonely grave with flowers, the women of Columbus, Miss., went out to the cemeteries and showered the graves alike with the blossoms of spring. This was the inspiration for the world-famous poem, "The Blue and the Gray," which she read by request.

The cross of honor was bestowed to Comrade Pettiford, following the customary reading of the rules as to the presentation and wearing of the emblem.

Mr. Pettiford spoke a word of appreciation for the honor, and among those who spoke briefly following him were J. M. Long Com-

YOUR ice box may often be a treasure chest. There is hardly a day when it does not contain bits of cold meat, fish, vegetables or fruit—bits of food that should not and need not be wasted. They are just the thing for a salad.

A salad is the most appetizing way to bring food to your table the second time.

We have just published a little book containing numerous salad and salad dressing suggestions. A copy is yours if you will drop a postal to Wesson Oil, P. O. Box 360, New Orleans, La., and tell us that you would like to have one.

Wesson Oil

Wesson Oil is a choice salad oil—light in color and most delicate in flavor. Use it in salad dressings, of course, but use it, also, for shortening and frying. You'll never know how good things can taste until you cook with a fat—like Wesson Oil—that is itself good-to-eat.

THE SOCIETY

Mrs. Lamkin at L. O. O. F.

Mrs. J. B. Lamkin returned Saturday night from Whitesboro, where she attended a joint meeting of the Rebekahs and Odd Fellows. She assisted in the organization of a district association, covering Grayson, Cooke, Fannin and Denton counties.

About 250 delegates were present and the State assembly was represented by Mrs. Lamkin as past president, Mrs. Alice J. Beddell of Dallas, grand secretary, and Mrs. Frank Ramsey of Wichita Falls, former foreign correspondent.

On Friday night a reception was held for the visiting Odd Fellows and Rebekahs.

Gainesville was chosen as the meeting place for the next meeting which is to be held July 22. These district officers were elected:

President, L. Self, Whitesboro.

Vice president, Mr. Simmons, Leonard.

Secretary, Mrs. Luther Bell, Gainesville.

Associate president, Mrs. Nick Alkin, Denton.

The Junior Red Cross chapter has sent to Washington headquarters two complete layettes to be sent to Hungary for needy mothers there.

The layettes were made up by the domestic art classes of the high school and were beautifully finished.

The money for the purchase of necessary materials was donated by these clubs: American Legion Auxiliary, Lotus club, Lydia Bible, U. D. C., Sorosis, Twentieth Century, Etothen, D. A. R., Neelie, Wednesday Bridge and Lamar Study.

A total of $18.10 was donated and the cost was $16.02.

At Easter, the junior council sent greetings to the soldiers in the government hospital at Kerrville.

Adams-Butcher

On Monday at noon, a very pretty wedding was solemnized at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. John P. Butcher, when their daughter, Florence, was united in marriage to Mr. Bentley Forrest Adams, by the Rev. F. W. Golden-Howes, rector of the Episcopal Church of Holy Cross, in the presence of the immediate family.

The bride is the second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Butcher and is a most lovable young woman of high attainments. She graduated from the Paris high school in 1919 and took her college course at the University of Michigan, receiving her A. B. degree in June 1923.

Mr. Adams is a newcomer to Paris, and is the manager of the Grand Avenue Oil Company, and is a young man of high qualifications. He graduated from the engineering school of the University of Michigan in 1922.

The young people have decided to make Texas their home, and Mr. Adams will continue to be identified with Mr. Butcher in his business interests.

The young couple left overland for Dallas, and will visit in New Orleans, Galveston and Houston, returning in about ten days to Paris, where they will be at home to their friends at 45 West Washington street.

Mrs. B. M. Adams of Chatham, N. J., mother of the groom, and Miss Cora E. Wheeler, of Mineola, were present at the wedding.

Miss Hodges' Birthday

On Saturday afternoon, from 8 to 10 o'clock, Mrs. Sam Hodges entertained with a party in honor of the fifteenth birthday of her niece, Miss Crystal Hodges.

The evening was delightfully spent in playing games and the prizes awarded were line handkerchiefs for the boys, and candy for the girls, which went to Miss Mary Katherine Fuston.

The honoree received many lovely gifts from the guests in attendance.

When the cake was cut, the ring went to Miss Edith Miller, the dime to Roy Jones, the thimble to Evelyn Simral and the button to Evelyn Hodges.

Cream was served with cake and pastries were used as plate favors. Good nights were said with many good wishes for returns of the day to the honoree.

Holley-McDaniel

On Sunday afternoon, at 2 o'clock, Miss Thelma Marian McDaniel and Charles Thomas Holley of Commerce were married at the home of the bride's parents, Dr. W. M. Wright, pastor of the First Baptist church, performing the ceremony.

Only the immediate family of the bride, and the groom's father were present.

The bride is a graduate of Paris high school and has been attending East Texas State Normal college. She is an attractive girl, who is well known and liked. She is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Daniel of Paris.

The couple will return to Commerce to make their home, the bride completing her course there at the normal.

Pratt-Eubank

Miss Nora Eubank and R. W. Pratt of Houston were married by Rev. Lawrence W. Shivers, pastor of Bonham Methodist church, at his home, the couple being accompanied by Miss Daisy Stell and Lee Mayo.

The bride is the youngest daughter of T. W. Eubank, who lives east of town. The couple will make their home there.

Sorosis

The Sorosis club meets this afternoon at 2:30 with Mrs. Russell Berry at the home of Mrs. W. T. Scott in Clarksville.

Mrs. Norman Williams will direct the study of "The Cathedral" by Hugh Walpole.

TRIED TO CROSS BRIDGE AT ARTHUR

In His Automobile When He Found That the Ferryboats Were Not Running

Arthur City had a large crowd of visitors Sunday, a good many of whom went to spend the day picnicking on the river and enjoying fish fries, the fish being brought from the professional fishermen and ferrymen who sell fish to travelers passing through as well as to picnic parties.

In addition to the picnicers there were a good many folks who spent the day at Arthur on account of being water bound. The river was too high for the ferryboats to operate. One man was impatient at being balked and didn't want to wait for the river to go down or to turn back attempted to drive across the Frisco railroad bridge in his auto.

He had to make the start some distance back where the dump began before reaching the river, and he traveled on the railroad track about 200 feet. Just as he was about to drive on the bridge was halted by some of the railroad people and had to back off.

The rise in the river began Friday and got up 22 feet. It dropped down Sunday morning, but began to rise again Sunday night. A telephone message Monday evening stated that the gauge measured 26 feet and that it was still rising.

NEED WORK BUT WANT TO STAY IN TOWN

Some farmers were in town on Monday trying to arrange in advance for cotton choppers to go out to chop for them next Monday, but they were not very successful.

W. T. Ridling, a well known farmer of the Noble community in the southwest part of the county, said that he was unable to get a promise from anybody at any price or any kind of inducement.

He said that the whites who were unemployed and needed work didn't appear to be any more eager for a job chopping cotton than the negroes. They all wanted to stay in town, in one or two instances where he found men willing to go to the country the women objected. They didn't want to leave town.

Sam Fuqua spent Sunday with his aged mother near Soper, Okla. He stated there was quite a storm in that vicinity Friday afternoon, and that it was accompanied by hailstones of large size. The hail, however, did not do much damage, as corn and cotton were not up enough to be hurt much.

NEW PASTOR FOR CHURCH AT DEPORT

Rev. John W. Willbanks Duly Installed by Clergy of Presbytery of Paris

On Sunday evening at the Depart Presbyterian church, Rev. John W. Willbanks was formally installed as pastor of that church. An impressive ceremony was administered by Dr. F. L. Wear, pastor of the Central Presbyterian church; Rev. W. G. Wright, the moderator of the Paris presbytery, and Rev. Andrew Walker.

Preceding the service a most pleasing musical program was presented by the Central Presbyterian choir under the direction of Mrs. Corinne Dargatzis. The first number was an anthem, "Great is the Lord," and this number was beautifully given by the choir of twenty-five voices. A solo, "The Psalmist," by Felt Fort was enjoyed very much as well as the stately duet "Divine Redeemer," given by Mrs. Frank Fuller and Frea Grimes. Mrs. E. T. Butler gave a pleasing solo, "In the Garden."

Rev. Mr. Wright introduced Dr. F. L. Wear and he in turn expressed his delight and that of his congregation who were present in having the privilege of worshiping with the Depart congregation.

Dr. Wear read his text Matthew 28, and took as the basis of his sermon the words, "Go ye and teach all nations." He said "may be expressed in different ways and may be of different sorts, but the kind that is mentioned in this verse I have just read expresses the kind I have in mind."

These people had hunger and thirst—they wanted to be something; they didn't know how to proceed. Christ showed them they must attain glory for service. A man, a woman or a church must give service to God and to fellowman. This thought is particularly appropriate for this day as the church and the minister are about to unite for service.

Everyone who is anybody has a desire to be great—they want to be better, do greater things and gain more glory, and Dr. Wear illustrated this fact by using the trees and other material things of life in showing his point. Everything has a desire to be greater.

What is the human character? If the smaller things of life have a desire to be greater, to attain more it is also probable that the human mind is even more so, and want to be the best and develop and enforce their accomplishments.

The business of the church of God and of the pastor is to take that human character of man, make it, develop it and make it greater in God's sight.

The intent and purpose of the church, of life, of the Sunday school and the Christian Endeavor societies is that the human character shall come to the climax of advancement.

The other thing of which I spoke, said Dr. Wear, "is Service. It is a thing that is in the world and has always been here. The very name is displayed from the garages, the stores and is used as a motto for the various clubs all over the nation. It is one characteristic of the American people—it is one of the ideas that is ever in their minds. If we will trace the origin, we find that it really originated with Jesus Christ. All through the scriptures the same idea is carried out—that is service to God and your fellowman.

We may say that Russia really brought the idea to the modern world. When he thought of the horrors of war and how it could be if everyone could drive out such ideas from the minds and strive to serve God. Why couldn't a person serve his fellowman by selling good groceries, good clothing or whatever he might be selling? Why couldn't this idea be developed instead of that of war?

So the idea of service in a commercial way has been developed and may also be traced back to Uncle Sam; and Dr. Wear gave illustrations of the various ways that the United States has entered into with merely the idea of service, until the nation is breathing forth the wonderful idea of service. The principle of service is embedded into the hearts of the American people.

Our trouble is that we think sometimes there is no use for this principle except in time of war, or when the sound of a trumpet is heard and there is a tendency to let your fellowman and to the work. A man has not attained the heights of service until he has made a success himself and then still has some strength to spare.

Dr. Wear closed with quoting the poem, "The Song of the Chattahoochee," with the idea of service involved in the poem which after reading it, should inspire one to do greater things and accomplish more in this life.

The service was then turned over to the moderator, Rev. W. G. Wright, who presented the charge to the newly called pastor, Rev. John W. Willbanks, emphasizing the importance of his obligation as pastor to his congregation. He closed his address with a prayer.

Rev. Andrew Walker, who for four years since leaving a minister has lived in Deport and has known the congregation well, delivered the charge to the congregation.

He said that he had lived among them to know that they really had the loyalty to back up their pastor; and he knew that they would uphold the hands of their pastor. A spirit of co-operation should exist between the pastor and his congregation and some things are necessary to make this possible and Rev. Mr. Walker gave a number of these in hints to the congregation. They should be regular attendants. They should be regular attendants. They should be regular attendants and work unceasingly with their pastor.

Dr. Wear pronounced the benediction.

ANNIVERSARY OF THE ODD FELLOWS

Dr. Wright Delivered Address to the Brookston Lodge and the Rebekahs

Dr. M. M. Wright delivered the address in commemoration of the one hundred and fifth anniversary of the Odd Fellow and Rebekah lodges at the Methodist church at Brookston Sunday afternoon to the assembled lodges and a number of fellow-lodgers from Paris, together with a large number of people of the Brookston community. Among those from Paris was Mrs. Lamkin, past president of the State assembly of Rebekahs.

Gordon Holt led the singing and Mr. Jennings pronounced the invocation, after which Dr. S. A. Warren, district deputy grand master of the I. O. O. F. sketched briefly the history of the lodge that has grown to be the largest in the world; which organized one hundred and five years ago, now numbers the largest membership of any similar organization in the entire world.

Dr. Wright, already well known to the audience, introduced W. L. Day, the new I. O. O. F. director of the first Baptist church, who with Mrs. Day and Mrs. Wright as accompanist, gave a beautiful duet number, "When They Ring Those Golden Bells for You and Me."

Upon the story of the Good Samaritan, told by Christ in answer to the query of the lawyer of the I. O. O. F. organization, already so familiar to all Odd Fellows and their sister lodge, the Rebekahs, Dr. Wright said, "The command to the 'what more can I do for the Lord?' with all thy heart, and with all thy soul, and with all thy strength, and neighbor as thyself—and in definition of the meaning of 'neighbor,' he told the story of the Good Samaritan, and the command to 'go thou and do likewise,' upon which are founded the tenets of the Odd Fellow lodge.

The cardinal principles set forth in the Odd Fellow organization, appeal to all philanthropists; and what the lodge and its sister organization, the Rebekahs, has meant to the world and the influence of the two organizations, which for one hundred and five years have carried out the teachings of the Man of Galilee, only the recording angel can tell; but the world does not know that one another and appreciate one another, as the intercourse in the organization permits, it places men on a plane of brotherhood, cemented by divine ties, and the world has need of more friends, and the clasp of a friendly hand."

"Love—the greatest of the virtues; that insists on giving, and is sacrificial in its scope; the second of the three cardinal principles of the Odd Fellow organization is Love; that is sympathy, and places a man in the other fellow's place."

"Truth—the third cardinal principle of the organization, Christ said, 'I am the Way and the Truth and the Life; without the way there is no going; and without the light there is no going.'"

Dr. Wright closed with the singing of "Best Be the Tie." Rev. Chambers pronounced the benediction.

OLD FASHIONED CAMP MEETING

That is the Tone of the Revival Under Way at the First Methodist

The great revival at First Methodist camp meeting, Dr. Monk spoke to the High school at 8:40 Monday morning—has a most enthusiastic and uproarious crowd. The service at 9:30 in the American National Bank was well attended, about 140 men being present. The interest was tremendous. From 10 o'clock until 11 o'clock at the church, the largest crowd yet assembled to the morning service was gathered to hear Dr. Monk's morning sermon and such was the enthusiasm that the preacher did not get a chance to preach at all.

Two or three people at one time were on their feet praising God for what had happened in the camp meeting. There were three adult men converted and one woman.

There were about 150 people present at the meeting held at the crate factory at 12:40 and some ten men and five women were gloriously converted.

SERVICES FOR TUESDAY

Down town meeting from 9:30 to 9:50 in First State bank. Morning service at the church from 10 to 11 o'clock in Brookston room.

Service at 12:30 at box factory. Cottage prayer meeting at 3 p. m. First ward, home of Mrs. D. B. Shelton. Mrs. Humphries leader.

Second ward, home of Mrs. H. Hancock. Mrs. J. H. Hancock, leader. Third ward, home of Mrs. D. D. Webster, North Seventeenth street. Mrs. A. H. Patterson, leader.

Fourth ward, home of Mrs. J. C. Miller. Mrs. T. J. R. Yates, leader.

At 7:15 mass meeting in the auditorium of church. This is a lodge night and various lodges and orders of city are invited to attend in body.

QUARTERLY CONFERENCE

BONHAM STREET METHODIST

Rev. E. L. Egger, presiding elder for the Paris district, will hold the second quarterly conference at Bonham street Methodist church on Wednesday evening. A full attendance is urged.

The Big Revival

First Methodist

The Colonel also heard Dr. Wright talk to the Odd Fellows.

DR. KNICKERBOCKER has secured real talent for the spring revival.

BIG auditorium again filled at the evening service.

ORGAN was used with telling effect.

DR. WRIGHT told Odd Fellows the story of the Good Samaritan.

I went Sunday evening to hear Rev. Mr. Monk and Con Metcalf of the First Methodist. Dr. Knickerbocker has been boasting a lot upon his good fortune in having secured these two to conduct the evening meetings at the First Methodist.

He has been telling through The Morning News as well as by word of mouth of their ability as revivalists and it somewhat stirred my curiosity.

Dr. Knickerbocker can go right along boasting; and I think that he is going to get the results which he hoped for. He has good reason to feel that he will.

The big auditorium was crowded again Sunday evening. That word "again" is used with understanding of its meaning. Its use in speaking of the capacity filling congregations which assemble in the First Methodist sanctuary each Sunday.

When I went in Savers Boyd waved me along from the center aisles and I went over to Bob Coleman; and he said: "Nothing but front seats left on this section."

You know how it is—the front seats in a church are the last ones taken.

Probably because the folks sitting there have to kinder throw their heads back and maybe get a crick in the neck looking at the preacher, or possibly because they are so closely under the eyes of the minister and are therefore fearful of being preached at.

But I noted Sunday evening that the front seats were all filled so I knew the capacity of the big room had been reached.

Rather glad I went so far from home because the only distraction from giving attentive ear to the preacher was the choir; and that rested the eyes during the sermon. But their choir required both ear and eye while they were singing the wonderful olden time gospel songs which were used altogether.

Dr. Fennell was seated with the Methodists Sunday evening, having dismissed his evening service so that his people might hear Dr. Monk and the singer.

Dr. Fennell looked as though he felt perfectly at home in the Methodist church. He advocates that very thing—that a Christian should feel at home in any Christian house of worship; and in his opening prayer he included a petition that all church members, when we shall all be together and the only reason for a multiplicity of church buildings shall be to accommodate all those who wish worship. At least that is my interpretation of his petition.

Dr. Wear was out of the city and I noted that most of his regular Sunday evening attendants were in the congregation; and there were Baptists and Presbyterians and members of most of the other churches of the city.

Dr. Knickerbocker had the members of other churches stand up and these were quite a number. Almost as many as those who stood when he asked for the members of the First Methodist.

And it was notable that the number who stood up on neither occasion was also quite large.

There is an impression which is quite general that most of the folks who attend church—save the very faithful—are members of one church or another. But if the test made at the First Methodist Sunday evening is an indication of what is going on in Paris there are a good many in Paris who are not included in such membership but who do attend.

That was the very thing which Dr. Monk enlarged upon in his sermon. He made the point that there can be no postponement of a decision as to the acceptance of Christ—it is either acceptance or rejection at every opportunity to decide faith and belief. That was his theme and he handled it well.

He is a man of action, is Dr. Monk, and he pointed his sermon with many bits of physical illustration. He depleted the den chair during the life of the miserable and shaking murderer is taken—an expiation of his sin; and he cried out that those who had crucified the Christ were those for whom sin had died—and the point was made with dramatic force.

The Jews made their decision and The Christ was crucified. The same decision is being made today by every person who has had opportunity to learn the Truth.

The Jew is a wanderer—will always be a wanderer until the second coming—and the redeemer of the world is going to be a wanderer and he without a country. Yet the many know this and still decide always against.

Dr. Monk uses his platform effects cleverly and with skill. In an apostrophe to the folks who stood upon the end of the platform in groping his way against obstacles in seating himself in the death chair, he said: "I have time to time to his brother ministers, he made his point and he forced it to the comprehension of even those who might not have caught the full meaning of his words."

And in the conclusion Mrs. Thompson used the organ with telling effect.

With the idea from the evangelist ringing loud over the congregation she played in the echo with the chimes "I come, I come," the song which had been just a moment before sung as a prelude.

Softly those bells rang from the balcony and it sounded even as a benediction to the voice of the minister as he pleaded for the decision among those who must have been touched—yet hesitated.

In the afternoon I went out to Brookston with the school reporter and heard Dr. Wright talk to the Odd Fellows. I was greatly impressed with that occasion. Dr. Warren was there (Brookston is his home) and told a little bit of the Odd Fellows' history. Then Dr. Wright talked about the wonderful work done by the members of that great fraternity.

He read the story of the Good Samaritan and he made it pointed. I thought of the history of the Odd Fellows. First a gathering of really odd fellows in England, which later developed into one of the greatest brotherhoods of the earth—into a fraternity which Dr. Warren says has more members than any other now existing.

I thought of a recent editorial by Arthur Brisbane in which he said that if you wish to get the crowd you must base your propaganda upon "fanaticism, hate and cupid-ity."

The fraternity of Odd Fellowship is based upon love of fellow man—the great commandment which was given by The Christ and which enlarged and defined that other great commandment of "do unto others as you would have them do unto you" which has come from the time of Adam.

Odd Fellowship has lived for 105 years—and it is based upon brotherly love. It grows and expands and builds larger from year to year, and accomplishes more good.

There have been many attempts to commercialize, in one way or another, cupid-ity, fanaticism and hate into fraternity—and none of them have lived; they just don't form a base for brotherly love and trust. Within a very short time the members who are proponents of that sort of stuff let their hatred extend to their outboard fanatics—and those who are not guided by cupid-ity fall away, leaving the proponents to seek again to delude and mislead and to gain further by teaching hatred in other form.

Dr. Wright talked well of brotherly love. He believes in it. He has works as well as faith in his teaching of brotherly love.

He can tell you that love wins—hate repels. Love is the teaching of The Christ—hate that of the devil himself.

He not only can tell you that—he does tell you that from week to week and lives it from day to day.

That's the big thought with me when I look upon the effort to destroy the doctrine of hate the truly useful fraternities which find thousands of followers in Texas and the United States, and I know for I've seen it tried before—that in a little while many of those who use hatred and cupid-ity as a base for their efforts to bring down the Pharisee and while they pretend to uphold great principles will be again followers of The Christ in emulating the Good Samaritan rather than the Pharisee and the devil who had been beaten and possibly tarred and feathered on "the bloody way."

Certainly there are men who cannot love—who only can hate and conspire and take pleasure in the acquirement of money, no matter at what price.

The Lord created the mockingbird and gave him a sweet voice to sing of beauty and love so that man may be inspired to love; and the Lord also created the nasty, rusty moccasin, which lies in wait and strikes with no warning.

And Satan came out of heaven. So we shall have for the time being further efforts on the part of those who worship money to bend to their own purposes the love of man or his fellow; we shall have the story of a man who was best upon "the bloody way" and of the loving rescue by the Good Samaritan repeated along through the years.

But those who preach or practice without reaching the doctrine of hate are not going to survive. They will be—they are known for what they are; and there is a contempt for them and we shall have no regard then even as Job did his boils.

But we shall curse God and die because of them.

PRIVET HEDGE IS RAIDED BY VANDAL

Several Plants Are Pulled up and Carried Away from the Graham School Grounds

It was discovered Monday morning when the teachers and pupils of the Third ward school began to assemble that some time during the night either Saturday or Sunday the lawn had been invaded by a group of vandals. A group of about thirty plants of privet hedge had been pulled up and carried away. It is not believed to have been an act of vandalism by malicious boys. If it had been they would not have carried the shrubs away. It is believed that they were pulled up by some person desiring to transplant them in their own yard. The person pulling them up appears to have waited for rain to soften the ground so they could be pulled without damage to the plants.

Mrs. Rodgers and other ladies of the Civic League in the Third ward have been taking a great deal of interest in making the school grounds attractive. Prof. Wooten said he would not spare any pains in trying to ascertain the name of the guilty culprit.

Backed by brilliant support, Lefty George Phillips, making his first start of the season, south-pawed his way to a 4 to 2 victory over Texarkana, in a game that fairly scintillated in fielding stunts, the Boy Belcher, Gilles and Gallegos featuring the defense with circus catches, robbing the visitors of drives that would have counted runs. It was the kind of support that gives a pitcher confidence and the fans a sense of delight.

Big Boy, with two on in the eighth, made a really marvelous catch of Phelps' terrific drive that was labeled for at least two bases.

The Big Un was given a great hand when he came in from the field, and besides pulling this stunt he whacked one of Miller's pet curves over the left field fence for the circuit. This performance netted Belcher a small amount of change.

In the ninth, when the visitors rallied and had two on, Gilles went back to the corner of the right field foul line and snagged Northern's clout that would have scored the tying runs. Gallegos also robbed two aspiring athletes of real base hits at critical moments.

The visitors rapped Phillips freely, adding a total of eleven safe knocks, but were unable to bunch them effectively. They out-hit the home folks, but wasted a lot of energy as Phillips, backed by glittering support, always had a little in reserve and wiggled out of some tight places.

The visitors opened the game auspiciously. Walker, the first man up, doubling to center on the first pitched ball, and Wassen beat out a perfect bunt and the sacks were jammed. Walker was forced at the plate on Allen's hit to the box, and Wassen scored on Pederson's sacrifice fly to Gilles. Kile struck out, ending the inning.

The North Stars went runless in their half of the first, but came back strong in the second when they jumped on Miller's slants for three runs. Howell began the inning with a walk. Hollis fouled out, attempting to bunt. Howell was forced by Belcher and Byers, hand-cuffed the third baseman and was safe at first. Belcher going to third. The double steal was worked and Belcher scored standing up. Lefty George, to the surprise of the fans and himself, doubled to right, scoring Byers. Wobdo got a hit over second and Phillips courted.

The locals scored their final run in the fourth. Howell started it and also broke into the hit column when he got a tremendous wallop to left center and pulled up at third base but was called out for doing a Mickle at second. Hollis flew out to second, and up comes the Big Un. On the third pitched ball there was a crash and a sigh of content from the fans. The ball had sailed far-wide and hand-some over the left field fence. Some wallop.

The visitors staged an incipient rally in the ninth, and for a moment it looked squally. Harper led off with a clean drive to left. Duckworth, pinch hitting for Miller, walked on Howell to Crozier. Purdue, batting for Walker, singled.

over second and Harper scored. Wassen was safe when Wobdo booted his roller to short. Northern slammed a vicious drive to right that looked as if it was going for three bases. Gilles, by a great sprint, speared the ball against the fence. Allen hit to Phillips and was an easy out at first, and it was over.

The North Stars got an even break with the Sulphur Springs Saints by winning Sunday's contest by a score of 9 to 3. Brown, on the mound for the home club, was a puzzle the visitors could not solve, while the North Stars took very kindly to the offerings of McCarty, another fork handed slinger. Brown was inclined to wisdom, but when he did get the ball over the Saints could not touch it. Gallegos won a home with the fans when he hit for the circuit, and the blow netted him about $15.

Both clubs played good ball and there were numerous fast fielding stunts. The Sulphur Springs club appears to be a fast and well-balanced aggregation, and with good pitching will be right up in the race.

needs of the city. It was with a feeling akin to regret and sorrow that he was taking his leave, but he was going to continue to take an interest in the welfare of the city and help in every way he could.

Alderman Gill was called on for an expression and complimented and endorsed the retiring mayor's address. He felt confident that the new administration could keep up the stride that had been taken. He hoped they would be able to reduce taxes in some way but he wanted to see efficiency of service maintained in all of the departments.

Alderman Breneman was called on and said that the mayor's address had thoroughly covered the ground. They had worked together so harmoniously in the old council that he felt it was a second family circle when he attended the meetings. He predicted that the new council would be just as harmonious.

Alderman Harrison said he did not feel that there was anything that he could add to what had been said in regard to the retiring administration. He felt like they all had done the best they could and there was a little feeling of sadness in their parting.

The retiring mayor called on the mayor-elect for a few remarks. Mayor Justiss replied that he had prepared but one speech; and he spoke a few words along the lines of the others.

Attorney Tom L. Beauchamp said if he had thought of saying anything he would have been discouraged after hearing the others' remarks. He endorsed what had been said and told of his own contributing to the work of the city. He paid a high tribute to Mr. Justice, whom he said he had known ever since he (the speaker) was a little boy and he had a feeling of companionship for him that made their official parting a little sadder than usual among men in official positions.

Engineer M. C. Welborn said that in all of his experience it had never been more his pleasure to work than with the retiring administration. Secretary W. G. George said he appreciated having worked with part of the council four years and with the retiring council two years. He never worked with a body of men whom he appreciated more.

In regard to the incoming mayor he said if any body wanted to know what kind of a man he is, could say he had known him since he was a small boy and that a cleaner, more upright and more honorable man cannot be found.

Dr. L. M. Gooch, health officer, and Dr. F. B. Cook, health inspector, were called on but they were not speakers and couldn't say any more than what had already been said.

Mayor Dewese then administered the oath of office to Mayor-elect Justiss, and told him that he was the mayor of the greatest town and the best people for the world. Members of the council stepped forward and shook hands with the new mayor.

The new mayor called the incoming aldermen before a body of administrators the oath of office to him in unison. The mayor in assuming the chair made a brief statement to the effect that he had known him since he was a little boy and he had a feeling of companionship for him that made their official parting a little sadder than usual among men in official positions.

He would expect "one hundred percent co-operation" on the part of officials and employees in working for the interests of the city. In employing men to work for the city he said it would be his policy to require loyalty to the administration. This might seem a small matter to some, but he regarded it as important.

He said the greatest thing he had to contend with in the campaign was the charge that he was a cheap labor man. It was not unreasonable to pay according to the amount of work as well as according to qualification. At the conclusion of his remarks he was applauded.

The new aldermen were called on for remarks. Alderman Guthrie who was the first, said that he would be called on to make a speech when he retires and that he didn't feel equal to making two.

Alderman Sam Payne was called on and said he had prepared a speech and had given it to Alderman Ivan Smith to make for him. Alderman Smith said it was true that Alderman Payne had given him a speech to say and that he gave it to Alderman Guthrie, who had already delivered it.

Alderman Breneman said the new aldermen would undoubtedly make useful members of the council.

The Truth About COLD PATCH

It was suggested that as the new lake was completed and there was not as much work for the engineer as there had been Mr. Welborn might be induced to work for less. The resignation of Mr. Welborn was accepted and Mayor Justiss presented applications for the vacancy from Olin Crook of Paris, W. W. Whippy of Colorado City, D. C. Lipscomb of Dallas and Walter F. Hicks of Greenville.

The council went into executive session to consider the applications and at the close it was announced that Mr. Hicks, the Greenville applicant, had been elected at a salary of $3600 per annum. Mr. Hicks has been employed as engineer on the project of Levee Improvement District No. 1 of Lamar county for some time. He served in the army as an engineer and was highly recommended.

He has given assurance that he will accept the position. He has a family and will move to Paris.

Ladies Aid, Methodist Protestant
The Ladies Aid Society of the Methodist Protestant church met Monday afternoon at the church with a splendid attendance. "Let the Lower Light Be Burning" followed by prayer by Mrs. Maudie Rooks.

The president, Mrs. Edgar Howard, read for the devotional the 11th chapter of Luke and gave a very interesting discussion on the subject of "Sowing With Christ," which was very much enjoyed.
